Manners set for campus generation

by Diane Scheidman

Proper manners regarding sex, drugs and parties were just some of the topics P.J. O'Rourke presented Wednesday night in a lecture titled "Collegiate Courtesy and Manners for Young Moderns."

O'Rourke, former editor of National Lampoon magazine, chose this topic because, "your generation on campus has a problem with manners. They're too fing good."

With this thought in mind, O'Rourke said, he has devised some codes of behavior students can try.

Dating is always a rather uncomfortable situation where manners are concerned, but don't despair. O'Rourke has a few helpful hints for that night out on the town.

The Women's Movement has brought new stresses to the dating scene and therefore, O'Rourke suggests that males treat the lady of their fancies with equality. In other words, "Don't perform acts that you would do for a young child or a chimp," he said.

However, regardless of any changes the Women's Movement may have spurred concerning the dating process, some men insist on remaining macho.

These boys are looking for an answer to such major problems as "Meaningful relationships: How to make them less meaningful," O'Rourke said.

Of course, any discussion about male-female relationships can only lead to one other topic of conversation—sex, he said.

One rule students should keep in mind about sex is that ondate is not an act to be abused, and therefore, "the dominant person should not abuse control," O'Rourke said.

In other words, "Don't tie the person to the bed and then go out with somebody more attractive," O'Rourke quipped.

However, interpersonal relationships are not the only forms of recreation available on college campuses and proper drug and alcohol etiquette is a must.

O'Rourke said that first of all, keep in mind that "alcohol is liquid adulthood."

Secondly, O'Rourke said, "Don't take drugs; please give them to me."

If a student must, however, indulge in such habits as marijuana smoking, he should not play "Stairway to Heaven" full-blast for half an hour while his roommate is trying to study.

Andropov rival picked as new Soviet leader

MOSCOW (AP)—Konstantin Chernenko, a pillar of the Kremlin's old guard, was named leader of the Communist Party on Monday at the age of 72—the oldest man ever to achieve the peak of Soviet power.

Chernenko, an ally of late President Leonid Brezhnev, succeeds Yuri Andropov, who died Thursday at 69 after 15 months in office.

Andropov, who was ill when he took power and spent his last five months out of public view, suffered severe kidney disease and diabetes.

When Brezhnev died in November, 1982, it was believed Chernenko was Andropov's rival for the party leadership. After Andropov won, it appeared Chernenko's political future was in doubt, but he retained enough influence in the top party ranks to grasp the top party post.

Because of Chernenko's age and his lack of background in formulating policy, there is speculation that decision-making and governing might be shared among other leading Politburo members.

Soviet foreign policy changed little during the brief tenure of Andropov and because Chernenko was so closely identified with Brezhnev it seemed unlikely he would make radical changes.

Chernenko was chosen by his 11 fellow members of the ruling Politburo. Unanimous approval Monday by the Central Committee was announced by the official news media at 2 p.m. as dignitaries from around the world gathered to attend Andropov's funeral.

It was not known if Chernenko would speak privately with Vice President George Bush and Senator majority leader Howard Baker Jr., who are representing the United States at Andropov's funeral.

Bush, arriving at Moscow's airport, expressed regret at Andropov's death and hope that Soviets and Americans would "increase contact and cooperation" in the future.

Bush said he came "to symbolize my nation's regard for the people of the Soviet Union and to signify the desire of the United States to continue to work for positive relations between our countries."

Speaking before the Central Committee, Chernenko attacked Western leaders as posing a threat of nuclear war. He said the Soviet Union would strive to avert war by maintaining its nuclear strength.

The new general secretary does not yet have the extra title of president, with which Andropov and Brezhnev consolidated their power. The presidency probably will remain vacant until the Supreme Soviet parliament next meets. Parliament elections are set for March 4.

Tass said Chernenko opened Monday's special session of the Central Committee, which praised Andropov as an "outstanding leader of the Communist Party and the Soviet state, an ardent patriot, Leninist, a tireless fighter for peace."

Premier Nikolai Tikhonov, 78, made the official nominating speech.

Chernenko's career has been a slow and steady climb up the party ladder, alongside his mentor and friend of 30 years, Brezhnev. Tikhonov took note of the decades of party work in his nomination: "Konstantin Ustinovich...knew the hard peasant labor, the service as a soldier, and everyday activities of a regional party committee in the countryside."

He called Chernenko a "talented organizer of the masses, an ardent propagandist of Marxist-Leninist ideas, an unshakeable fighter for putting into life the policy of our great party."

In his own speech, Chernenko made no specific proposals for resumption of U.S.—Soviet dialogue, and sounded the standard line in foreign policy, saying "we can very well see the threat created today to humankind by the reckless, adventurist actions of imperialism's aggressive forces."

Chernenko said he supports "the principle of peaceful coexistence of states with different social systems."

"We do not intend to dictate our will to others, but we will not permit the military equilibrium that has been achieved to be upset," he said. "And let nobody have even the slightest doubt about that: We will further see to it that our country's defense capacity be strengthened, that we should have enough means to cool the hot heads of militant adventurists."

Toxic wastes

No cleanup prompts unity

by Dave McKinney

Several Greenup residents have formed a coalition against toxic waste in the hope that it will pressure a speedier cleanup of that town's toxic waste foe, A & F Materials.

Calling themselves Citizens for Toxic Cleanup, nearly 50 residents met last Thursday night at the Greenup Municipal Building to discuss exactly what their plan of action should be in getting a quicker cleanup of the state's worst toxic waste site.

The meeting, in part, was prompted by an Illinois Environmental Protection Agency announcement that the site is tentatively set to be cleaned up December 1985, approximately five years after the site was closed by the federal EPA.

"We've put up with this now for too long," said Linda Niccum, both an organizer of the group and a neighbor to A & F. "If the citizen's committee doesn't get us anywhere, we sure can't say we didn't try."

Besides informing exactly what chemicals were lying in a giant sludge pit and several rusting metal siloes that remain on the site, the group urged everyone at Thursday night's meeting to write their congressmen, telling of the potential hazard A & F represents.

The group planned to send form letters, one of them titled "Had your genes altered lately," to Greenup and Cumberland County residents as well as to those who were interested in the problem. The letters are addressed to several state and federal politicians as well.

Niccum thought that using political means would get quicker action than relying on the state's tentative cleanup date.

"The EPA probably doesn't want the Citizen's Committee because it scares them," Niccum said. "If we push the politicians, it's going to make the EPA look bad."

The Citizens for Toxic Cleanup is planning to meet Feb. 28 at the Greenup Municipal Building. Organizers hope that U.S. Representative Dan Crane will be in attendance.

In a related action, the IEPA also announced last week that the U.S. District Court ruled that those companies that had dumped hazardous waste at the A & F site were each "jointly and severally" liable to pay for cleaning the mess up.

While a trial has not yet occurred, the decision means that any of the companies that dumped waste at the Greenup facility, ALCOA among the biggest named, could be forced to pay for the cleanup, estimated earlier this year to total $4 million.

Sierra Club backs Simon's bid

CHICAGO—Democratic U.S. Senate candidate Paul Simon announced Monday he had been endorsed by the Sierra Club for his support of legislation restricting strip mining, acid rain and hazardous-waste dumping.

Simon's tour of a South Side toxic waste dump and following news conference was part of a busy day of campaigning in the Democratic race for the nomination to take on the winner of the Republican primary, either Sen. Charles Percy, or his challenger, GOP Congressman Thomas Corcoran.

An hour before, lawyer Alex Seith told a news briefing that his senate primary foes should explain why they were supporting repeal of a law indexing income tax bites to the rate of inflation.

Seith said the law, to take effect in 1985, would help continue a "consumer-financed" recovery and amounted to the "best tax protection plan the middle class ever got."

Jackson might visit Nicaragua

FORSYTH, Ga.—The Rev. Jesse Jackson said Monday he has been invited to Nicaragua next Tuesday to help celebrate the rise to power of the leftist Sandinista regime there and will decide by the end of the week whether to go.

If he goes, the visit would come one day after the Iowa caucuses and exactly a week in advance of the New Hampshire primary, where Jackson is pushing for a strong showing.

Jackson said the invitation came from the Nicaraguan ambassador to the United States.

Asked whether the timing had political overtones, the Democratic presidential candidate told reporters traveling with him on a voter registration sweep through Georgia, "I didn't invite me to go to Nicaragua and I didn't set Feb. 21st as the date for celebration."

U.S. opens door to Soviet talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Reagan administration said Monday it wanted to join the new Soviet leader, Konstantin U. Chernenko, in achieving "constructive cooperation" but emphasized that improving relations between the superpowers "has to be a two-way street."

With Vice President George Bush heading for Moscow to represent President Reagan at the funeral of Soviet President Yuri Andropov, officials in Washington said the United States would welcome discussions with Soviet leaders. But the likelihood of a meeting between Reagan and Chernenko remained uncertain at best.

Reagan's spokesman greeted the announcement that Chernenko would move into the top position of general secretary of the Communist Party by calling for closer ties between the two nations.

"We invite the new leaders of the Soviet Union to work with us in establishing a basis for greater mutual understanding and constructive cooperation," White House spokesman Larry Speakes said.

Speakes said Bush would stress "our commitment to peace and in particular to the search for mutually acceptable agreements" during his discussions in Moscow.

However, it was not clear Monday whether Bush would confer with Chernenko during his visit, although Speakes said the United States would welcome such talks.

In his first speech in his new post, Chernenko said the Soviet Union would match any security threat from the "hot hands of militant adventurists" in the West.

"We can very well see the threat created today to humankind by the reckless, adventurist actions of imperialism's aggressive forces," Chernenko said. "We do not intend to dictate our will to others, but we will not permit the military equilibrium that has been achieved to be upset."

Plans made to move Marines out

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Reagan administration has set in motion plans to withdraw the U.S. Marines from Lebanon before mid-March, officials said Monday.

"The White House has made a decision to get the Marines out of Beirut and on the amphibious ships offshore within 30 days from last Saturday," an administration official, speaking on the condition he remain anonymous, said.

"The clock started then," the official added, saying the decision was made after Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger delivered the Pentagon's proposal for withdrawing the Marines to the White House last Friday.

Such a timetable would bring the 1,200 to 1,300 Marines serving in the multinational force from their positions at the Beirut International Airport to the ships by March 12.

Officials said last week a relatively small number of U.S. military personnel, perhaps 200 or so, would remain to guard the U.S. Embassy, train the Lebanese army and handle communications and other tasks.

Earlier Monday, White House spokesman Larry Speakes said President Reagan was moving toward a withdrawal of the Marines to the ships within 30 days and that "we will do so if it is consistent with the political and military situation."

On Sunday, Weinberger said that "substantial numbers (of marines) should be out by the end of this month, and probably it's perfectly feasible that the entire operation can be completed within less than 30 days."

But like Speakes, Weinberger did not say that a definite decision had been made on the timing of the withdrawal, although he made it clear that he wanted the Marines back on the ships within 30 days.

AB hears UB budget aims; $10,445 to go to concerts

by Pete Swanberg

The Apportionment Board Thursday heard the second half of budget requests from the University Board for Fiscal Year 1984-85.

UB presented budgets for the concert, mainstage, movies, performing arts, special events, summer programming, production and videotape committees.

Mainstage Coordinator Barry Burford requested $10,445.

Burford said, "Mainstage is responsible for bringing contemporary music to campus—from jazz fusion to hard rock."

UB movie coordinator John Allston presented AB with a request for $5,224.00.

The movie committee sponsors movies every weekend in the Union Ballroom, Allston said.

The UB Performing Arts Committee, which brings ballets, plays and orchestras to Eastern, requested an allotment of $18,508.

The performing arts committee recently sponsored a Joffery Ballet performance which 650 people attended.

The UB Special Events Committee, which sponsors lectures and other miscellaneous events, requested $6,040.

The special events committee is also working on a New Student Week to be coordinated with the Rookie Runner program.

The UB Videotape Committee requested $4,939.80.

The funds will be used for taping events, such as Eastern basketball and football games and campus plays and live bands, to be shown in the Union videotape room.

UB Productions Coordinator Floyd Akins requested $4,461.

Akins said, "Productions provides lighting and sound for any organization that needs it, including major concerts, mainstage and the performing arts."

Akins request included the acquisition of two Bose speakers, four directional microphones and a Yamaha sound board, at a collective price of $2,800.

"With the equipment we have now we are still in grammar school," Akins said.

"It used to be okay, but with more complicated technology in bands, we realized we need more up-to-date equipment," he added.

Jeff Karol, concert coordinator, requested $10,000.

Karol said the concert committee is responsible for bringing "big name bands" to campus.

In other business, the Sports and Recreation Board requested a number of line-item transfers to obtain money for more intramural athletic equipment.

David Dutler, Sports and Recreation Committee chairman, said the board transferred funds that were supposed to go to buy protective wall padding for University basketball courts.

Dutler said intramural basketball games will be played half-court next year.

"We won't have the impact of full-court games, so we won't need the padding," Dutler explained.

Elections committee sponsors student voter registration drive

The Student Senate Elections Committee will sponsor a voter registration drive Tuesday and Wednesday.

Elections committee co-chairman Audrey Berman said voter registration will be conducted from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Union Walkway.

Students should register to be eligible to vote in the March 20 primary.

To register to vote in Coles County, students need to bring proof of their current address such as letters addressed to them.

In addition, a bulletin board will be set up in the Union Walkway so that students who prefer to remain registered at home can fill out material for absentee ballots, Berman said.

"Students can register here (Coles County) if they are registered at home. If they want to vote here, it will cancel out their home registration," she said.

"It is important for students to register because the people they are voting for will affect their lives," she added.

CAA proposal needs less rigidity Your turn

For some college-bound students, admission to a four-year institution is a dream come true. However, a Council on Academic Affairs' subcommittee request for specific improvements of freshman admission standards could make applying to Eastern a nightmare.

Editorial While most people in the education community would agree with the concept of raising academic competency, CAA members should take care in trying to raise that competency through stricter admissions standards because some secondary schools' programs would not be able to compliment those "improvements."

College educations can become an impossibility for many students if Eastern and other colleges approve standards such as those the CAA is currently considering.

The CAA subcommittee's proposal includes changing the current language arts requirement from the state standard of three years of any such class to four years of English, including composition, grammar and literature.

Also, two years of a foreign language or one year of either drama, debate or public speaking could be substituted for the fourth year of English.

Not only are these and other requirements too specific for students of some high schools to meet, but the requirements will also be too difficult for admissions officers to police.

Registrar Jim Martin recently noted that many high schools label their courses only as English I, II, III, IV and that many of them would not aid Eastern by making their transcripts more specific.

Instead of creating admissions standards which are too regimented, the CAA should work with high schools to stress their proposed requirements to college-bound students at the secondary level, rather than pricing Eastern out of reach with lofty requirements that smaller schools with limited budgets cannot fulfill.

Higher academic standards are worth pursuing, but academic councils need to ensure these standards don't evolve at the cost of accessible, public education for all.

Rushing with ideas, suggestions

Editor:

First, I wish to congratulate the Interfraternity Council on its decision to present a better organized rush program beginning fall '84. I am sure this will prove successful in strengthening the greek system at Eastern.

Secondly, I acknowledge the IFC's criticism for my use of the word "formal" in regard to rush programming on this campus.

I am also in favor of an open yet organized rush atmosphere, but this open rush atmosphere necessitates a formal rush—a rush program whereby each house is presented to the rushee on an equal basis, through the enforcement of various rush regulations. A formal rush would not only benefit the rushee, but the smaller and less popular fraternity houses as well.

I wish to thank the IFC for giving my rush ideas some thought. I am looking forward to working with the IFC on fall rush '84.

Dissatisfied with food service

Editor:

Each day during meals in food service, I am amazed at the waste and inefficiency. Some of the employees are constantly sitting around and doing nothing, drinking coffee or standing behind the serving counter eating the food as it is served.

These employees are being paid for non-existent jobs or jobs which are done unsatisfactorily.

In today's world, it is becoming mandatory that waste be eliminated and efficiency be made with limited funds. It disappoints me that my campus job requires a good worker who is willing to do any job and I am always under constant supervision.

Why contribute to a specific individual's benefit when we could make the food service more efficient and benefit all of the students through reducing costs and in turn saving the residents on their housing bill.

Senate buttons down system

Editor:

Last Wednesday, Student Senate gave its unanimous approval of the Buddy Button System—a proposal drawn up by Keith Cornille and Lucy O'Brien.

The Buddy Button System is an excellent start to a permanent security system on Eastern's campus. It's enlightening to see students helping students in such a positive way.

Cornille and O'Brien should be commended for their thorough planning and implementation. Student Senate is proud to be taking an active part to help promote this project.

We urge all students to actively participate in this campus-wide program. The senate pledges to be a contributing unit to this student-organized project.

Question privately, not publicly

Editor:

On Saturday, Feb. 4, a friend of ours was falsely accused of shoplifting from Tokens. Although we don't blame Ira Barret, the owner, for questioning her about the incident, the manner in which he did so was degrading and very embarrassing.

It is a common business practice to question the accused in private, not in front of other patrons.

We suggest to Mr. Barret that he change his method of questioning to that which is expected from any reputable businessman.

We wish to make it clear that this is not a criticism of Barret's right to question alleged shoplifters; merely the manner in which he does so.

Thompson address ignores education

Perhaps being at the university distorts one's perspective; perhaps funding higher education in Illinois really isn't an important issue.

That's certainly the impression Gov. James Thompson gave in his State of the State Address to the General Assembly Wednesday.

Taking a cue from President Reagan's State of the Union Address two weeks ago, in which Reagan ignored the federal deficit, Thompson gave a glowing list of his accomplishments and painted a rosy picture for Illinois' future. But he was virtually silent on the issue of funding for higher education.

There was some mention of linking industry and education to help Illinois "get down to business"—the theme of the speech. The universities, Thompson said, are "storehouses of information" and a "bank of brainpower waiting to be tapped" by business. But he apparently forgot that some of those banks are perilously close to going bust.

And he apparently forgot, in opposing extending last years' temporary tax increase, that it was only a year ago that the state was on the verge of a "doomsday budget."

Without the extension, Thompson said, he will still be able to create a "compassionate, decent budget" and yet live within the state's means. That forecast is based on the belief that a growing economy and stricter tax-collection enforcement will produce $150 million in new revenue in 1985.

That's a nice thought, and Thompson deserves praise for his fiscal management of the state. But the tax increase was meant to supply nearly $1 billion in new revenue—not $150 million, and the unemployment rate in Illinois is up from 9.4 to 10.7 percent between December and January. We wonder exactly where the governor will get the cash to be "compassionate."

Crossviews:

Adjusted for inflation, higher education funding declined 17 percent in the past three years and the Board of Higher Education has suggested increasing higher education funding by $100 million in FY 85. When looking for ways to make a "decent" budget for higher education, Gov. Thompson needs to extend his compassion to students, who are likely to be tapped to make up for sagging revenues through tuition increases.

But Thompson didn't indicate any such plans. As far as the State of the State message went, the problems in higher education don't exist.

Granted, State of the State Addresses aren't meant to be a forum for confronting difficult issues, especially in an election year when several of Thompson's Republican pals are up for re-election in the General Assembly, and Reagan has tagged Big Jim to head his campaign in Illinois. But one wonders why, if the Governor can't be an effective administrator and address the tough choices facing the state, he speaks at all.

For now, we will have to wait for next month's budget message to get the bad news in education. Thompson must be hoping that after Wednesday's spoonful of sugar, the medicine won't taste too bad.

Teens waging legal battle to protect women's rights

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Two teenagers who claim they were expelled from the National Honor Society for being pregnant are waging legal fights to be reinstated, saying they want to protect the rights of other women.

"If I had to fight this for another five years, I wouldn't be tired of it because I feel it's worth it," said Loretta Wort of Mount Sterling, Ill. She was dismissed from the honor society in her senior year, a few months before the birth of her daughter Lacey Anne in April 1982.

"The main reason I'm keeping this going is because I don't want anyone else to go through this," said Mrs. Wort, whose case goes to trial in federal court in Springfield next month.

Mrs. Wort and Arlene Pfeiffer, a senior at Marion Center Area High School in rural western Pennsylvania, contend they were punished for "getting caught."

"I wasn't doing anything that anyone else wasn't doing, I just got pregnant," said Mrs. Wort, 19, who married her child's father in October 1981.

"I could have gotten an abortion. I could have run away," said Miss Pfeiffer, 17, who gained national attention after the local school board in January upheld her dismissal from the honor society. Her daughter Jessica was born in August.

Miss Pfeiffer "was discriminated against because she had her child out of wedlock, and kept her child," said lawyer Chere Winnek-Shawer. She said her client's complaint will be filed this month with the Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission or a federal court.

The school districts involved say the young women were not dismissed from the society because they became pregnant. Both districts cited character and leadership, two of the qualities the National Honor Society uses to determine membership.

Officials in the Brown County school district in Illinois "considered everything together. Whether those other things were caused by her pregnancy, only she would know," said George Lewis, a lawyer who represents the school district in Mrs. Wort's case.

Lewis said Mrs. Wort missed many days of school and showed "a lack of interest in some classes" before her dismissal.

In Miss Pfeiffer's case, superintendent John Mallino said it was not the pregnancy but "what adverse effects that pregnancy has."

The National Honor Society lets local chapters decide what constitutes character, "probably the most difficult criterion to define," according to the society's national handbook.

The lawyers for the two young women question whether the districts apply the same criteria to male students.

Pregnancy "does show on a woman and it will never show on a man. That's the biological fact of it," said Ms. Winnek-Shawer.

"They are treating her differently than they would boys," said Mrs. Wort's lawyer, Thomas Kennedy.

Two-year scholarship available

Applications for the two-year federal ROTC scholarship program are being accepted by Eastern's ROTC program, Capt. Jess Cox said.

The scholarship pays all tuition, fees and books and provides a $100 a month for living expenses, Cox said.

To qualify for the scholarship, he said, a student must be at least a sophomore with a 2.5 grade point average or better in a "hard-skilled" major. He explained that hard-skilled majors include chemistry and physics.

To obtain the scholarship, a student must attend a summer ROTC camp, Cox said.

In addition, the scholarship may be used at other colleges which have ROTC programs, he said.

Cox said the applications will be accepted until Feb. 16.

In addition, a similar competition for a 3-year scholarship will be offered in March, he said.

For additional information about the scholarships, Cox may be contacted at 581-5944.

Committee seeks nominations for 1984-85 honorary degrees

College graduates who have yet to earn doctorate degrees and have been recognized for outstanding work in their fields are being sought for honorary degrees by Eastern officials.

Daniel E. Thornburgh, chairman of the Honorary Degree Committee, said nominations for Eastern's honorary degrees for the 1984-85 academic year are being accepted.

The degree is conferred in recognition of an individual with an unearned doctorate degree, Thornburgh said.

"The degree is given to one or two college graduates who have been recognized outstanding in his field in the past thirty to fifty years," he added.

In addition, individuals may be nominated by Eastern faculty, staff, alumni or students of the university, he noted.

"Nominations are made to the Honorary Degree Committee, submitted to President Rives, and recommendations are made to the Board of Governors," Thornburgh said.

Applications are available from the Alumni Office in Old Main and the journalism office in Buzzard Building and must be submitted to Thornburgh by March 23.

Oak Ridge Boys set appearance; tickets on sale at three locations

Tickets for the March 10 Oak Ridge Boys concert will go on sale Feb. 14.

At the Feb. 7 University Board meeting, it was announced that tickets will be sold for $12.50 at Eisner Food Store, 612 W. Lincoln, Mazuma Records and Tapes, 1406 Sixth St., and the Union Box Office.

In addition, John Karol, UB concert coordinator, proposed a reduced concert ticket price of $1 for students to go into effect in next year.

The reduced ticket price could be offered if student fees are allocated for that purpose, Karol noted.

UB Chairman Nancy Martin said the UB is still presenting its budgets to the Apportionment Board and added that she expects a decision in the near future.

In other business, John Allston, UB movie coordinator, reported that low attendance of the movies "Mad Max" and "Road Warrior" caused the University Board to lose $125.

In addition, tickets for the play "For Colored Girls Who Have Considered Suicide When The Rainbow Isn't Enough" Thursday will be available to students for $2.50 and to the general public for $5.

THE FAMOUS TRAVELER'S TRIVIA TRIP CONTEST ANSWER FORM

Name _____
Address _____
Phone _____

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ANSWER ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

1. A traveler can be historical, current, fictional or real. Any explorer or celebrity that traveled or travels applies and is valid.
2. Three clues, as to the identity of the famous traveler, will be printed in the classified ads section Tuesday and Wednesday.
3. Contestants must find the clues, figure out who the famous traveler is, and fill out the provided contest form completely. (The contest form will also be printed in the classified ads section.)
4. The completed contest form must be brought to the news room office, Buzzard Ed. Bld., between 8:00 a.m. and 12:00 noon on the day the clues are published.
5. Neither early nor late entries will be accepted.
6. The exact time the envelope is brought into the news room will be written on the envelope by an authorized contest official.
7. The winner will be the first contestant with the right answer. (This will be determined by the time the entry is received — in the case of two or more right answers.)
8. ALL contestants with the right answer will be awarded a classified coupon, good for a free classified ad of 15 words or less.
9. The weekly winners will go into a drawing for the grand prize, a trip for two (2) to Daytona Beach, Florida provided by Coastal Tours. The trip will include: round trip transportation from Charleston, Ill. to Daytona Beach, Fla., hotel accomodations at Sanabel Inn for 8 days and 7 nights. The trip will be taken during the week of March 23-April 1, 1984.
10. There will be only one grand prize entry per weekly contest winner.
11. Student organizations, professional and social sororities and fraternities are not people per se and may not enter as such.
12. The weekly winners will be published in THE DAILY EASTERN NEWS the Friday after the weekly games.
13. Student Publications and Coastal Tours employees or their families are ineligible.
14. The winner of the grand prize, for which there will be only 14 contestants, will be announced Friday, March 16, 1984.

Air Illinois recertification still up in the air says FAA

CHICAGO (AP)—Air Illinois, still trying to recover from a 30-day grounding of its entire fleet, is not close to having its turboprops recertified, a spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration said Monday. Air Illinois spokeswoman Alice Mitchell said recently that the company hoped to have some of its nine turboprops flying again this Monday. But in a telephone interview Monday FAA spokesman Mort Edelstein said: "I don't think they're anywhere near... Maybe they're not pushing it very hard."

Air Illinois President Roger Street and Mrs. Mitchell failed to return repeated telephone calls.

The grounding followed a federal investigation of an Oct. 11 plane crash in Southern Illinois that killed 10 people. In December, Street said Air Illinois halted operations so that it could meet federal regulations regarding its manuals, training program and record-keeping procedures. On Jan. 14, the airline's two BAC 111 jets obtained federal recertification and began flying again.

Edelstein said he thought Air Illinois had submitted revised turboprop manuals for agency approval. Before being recertified, pilots must conduct training and proving flights to show they can deal with emergencies. The FAA must approve any such flights beforehand.

Still, Edelstein said, the next move is up to Air Illinois. He would not be specific about what it next must do except to say: "They have to decide that they want to put a real crunch on, like they did on the BACs."

Sheriff convicted of dealing pot

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Marion County Sheriff Harold White was convicted Monday of conspiring to distribute marijuana and two counts of perjury.

A federal jury deliberated about an hour before pronouncing the sheriff guilty after the week-long trial, during which the sheriff testified that he accepted money from an admitted drug dealer to win his confidence.

White, 50, faces a maximum of 15 years in prison and up to $35,000 in fines. U.S. District Judge James Meredith scheduled sentencing for March 9. White, meanwhile, remains free on $10,000 bond.

White, who remained impassive during closing arguments, shook his head and grimaced as the jury's verdict was read. His teen-age daughter burst into tears as the verdict was read.

The sheriff declined to respond to reporters' questions as he left with his attorneys. But his chief counsel, Fred Mayer, said the sheriff would appeal the decision.

The sheriff's trial began Feb. 10 with Rey Orta, White's chief accuser, taking the stand to say he paid the sheriff $1,000 a month for protection to sell drugs in the county. Orta was granted immunity from prosecution in return for testifying.

Outside the courtroom, White's staunchest backers vowed to continue their support of the sheriff of the northeastern Missouri county.

Members of the Support Our Sheriff committee, who have raised nearly $18,000 for legal fees, denounced the verdict unjust.

"Justice has not been served. I don't feel like the jury had the true picture," said the Rev. Don Brodhacker, chairman of the SOS committee.

White admitted under oath Friday that he took money from Orta and provided the drug dealer with information. But he claimed it was part of his own secret investigation of Orta.

DIET FACTS & FALLACIES

DIETING

LOSE 17-20 LBS. BEFORE SPRING BREAK

Thoughts turn to beaches and swimwear, tennis and shorts, and DIETING! As the warm weather approaches, people want to shed their winter clothes, and those extra bulges that were hidden, so they can look nice in their summer ones. Look for a weight-control program, not just a fad diet. A safe program will supply your body with all of the nutrients it needs to function properly, not just all liquids, or all fiber.

Do you realize that you can diet, become slim, and still not look and feel your best? This is because you have deprived your body of necessary vitamins and minerals. The Diet Center Program meets all RDA and the Seven U.S. Dietary Goals. Your Diet Center Counselor can provide a complete, safe, weight-reduction program for you and also teach you to keep weight off through good nutrition.

Lady cagers trounce league foe Northern Iowa, 86-57

by Mike Sengstock

CEDAR FALLS, Iowa—Eastern's women's basketball team's rout of the University of Northern Iowa Saturday didn't improve the Panthers' conference championship hopes, but the win certainly didn't hurt.

Eastern, currently fifth in the Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference and 13-8 overall, trounced the Purple Panthers 86-57 Saturday to improve its conference record to 7-4. Northern Iowa, trailing the conference, fell to 0-11 and 1-19.

"If we win the rest of our games, we might have a shot at it (conference title)," Eastern head coach Barbara Hilke said. "But Southern would have to getlobbered and Drake would have to lose most of their games, which is very unlikely."

Eastern junior forward Toni Collins, who tossed in a game-high 21 points Saturday, agreed her team is hanging on by a thread.

"We have to win the rest of our games and someone has to knock off Carbondale (Southern Illinois University)," Eastern junior forward Toni Collins said. "That's the only way we'd have a shot at a conference title."

Eastern played the kind of game Saturday that it will have to play from now on. The Panthers jumped out to an early lead and never looked back, outscoring Northern Iowa 51-34 in the final half.

"At the end of the first half we started picking up the pace," Collins said. "And we really came on in the second half."

Panther guard Melanie Hatfield, who tossed in 19 points, led her team's offensive attack in the second half from a 35-23 halftime advantage to leads of as much as 30 points in the second half.

"Melanie totally directed our offense," Hilke said. "And Chris Aldridge was tough on the boards."

Aldridge, who matched her 11 points with a game-high 11 rebounds, was one of five Panther players who scored in double figures Saturday.

"We played a good game overall," Collins said. It takes some of the tension off of us."

However, previous losses by Eastern to Southern and Drake, the frontrunners in the conference race, have caused the Panthers' morale to slip slightly, as well as their record.

"We needed this game as a confidence builder," Collins said.

Hyndman to move on, takes position at SMU

by Mike Lynch

Schellas Hyndman, who led Eastern's soccer program to national recognition during a seven-year coaching tenure, was hired Saturday as head coach at Southern Methodist University.

Hyndman, who led the Panthers to seven straight NCAA post-season playoffs and compiled a career record of 94-24-11, made the move official following a weekend visit to the SMU campus.

"I think it's a good opportunity for me professionally," Hyndman said. "I've been given encouragement that they're (SMU) ready to make a full commitment to the soccer program."

"In the end I think SMU just came through on some of the finer negotiation points," Hyndman said. "I made my decision and I'm leaving with no bad feelings."

Last season Hyndman guided the Panthers to a 18-2-1 mark and a No. 3 national ranking, before losing to St. Louis University in the Midwest regional final.

"It hurts to leave one of the top programs in the country, but I really believe SMU has the potential to become national champions," Hyndman said.

Hyndman, who led the Panthers to their greatest soccer heights in 1981 with a third place finish in the nation, said, in the end, his decision to leave Eastern was not an easy one.

"It's really tough and a constant thing on my mind," Hyndman said. "Eastern has always been my home and I have a lot of friends here who have helped me out through the years."

Hyndman is an Eastern graduate who played on the 1969 NAIA national champion team before assuming head coaching duties in 1977.

Hyndman, who reached the pinnacle of coaching success in 1981 by receiving college soccer's national coach of the year award, said leaving the players is the hardest part of his departure.

"Leaving the players bring tears to my eyes," Hyndman said. "They're disappointed, but I think they understand the direction I'm going."

"Eastern Illinois has done a lot for me and I'm saddened personally to be leaving, but at this point and time I think it's the best thing for me," he added.

Last minute free-throws hand SWMO a 53-52 win

by Mike Lynch

SPRINGFIELD, Mo.—Southwest Missouri's Eric Gray hit two free throws with seven seconds remaining Monday night to give the Bears a 53-52 victory over Eastern.

Southwest Missouri, 6-4 and 11-7 overall, needed the help of a Panther turnover in the closing seconds as Eastern had the ball—and a one point lead—with 18 seconds left to play.

However, an errant in-bounds pass was picked off by the Bears' Derrick Thomas whose lead pass to Gray forced the Panther foul.

Gray, who finished the game with 10 points, iced the two free throws. The Panthers had one final chance to win the game, but Vincent Smelter's jumper from the top of the key missed.

Eastern, 10-11 and 3-6 overall, was magnificent in the first half hitting 65 percent from the floor enroute to a 30-26 halftime lead.

Kevin Duckworth and Jon Collins lead the Eastern attack in the initial half as the two standouts combined for 26 of the Panther's first half points.

Southwest Missouri head coach Charlie Spoonhour said, "Eastern played a flawless first half of basketball, we were just fortunate to have been able to keep them close."

In the second half, the Bears continued to keep the Panthers close and finally took their first lead since early in the contest at 47-46 with 7:09 remaining.

CHAMPAIGN—By the time March rolls around, most track runners will be preparing for the outdoor season to get underway. That is, except for Eastern sprinter Claude Magee, who will be competing in the NCAA Division I National Championships.

Magee shattered two existing Eastern records Saturday at the prestigious Illini Classic to earn a trip to the national championships, which will be held March 9-10 at the Carrier Dome in Syracuse, N.Y.

"Claude had the most outstanding day any sprinter has ever had at Eastern," head coach Neil Moore said. "I'm very happy about this."

The junior standout took top honors in the 60-yard dash with a 6.21 clocking, which bettered the qualifying standard for the NCAA indoor meet of 6.23. It also broke the old Eastern school record of 6.34.

In addition, Magee won the 300-yard dash in 30.30, also a new school record.

"Claude's times were all his best ever," Moore said. "It was a very elite meet, and he beat some good people."

The meet featured more than 40 Division I schools from around the country. Moore said the purpose of the meet was to serve as a qualifying meet for the national championships.

"His potential is unknown," Moore said. "When he's healthy he can run with the best of them. If all goes well, I'd like to see him at Los Angeles (1984 Olympics) this year."

Although Magee was the star of the day, several other Panthers notched impressive marks, as well.

Drew Geisler took second in the mile-run at 4:15.04, while Eastern's mile relay team, comprised of freshmen Mark Smith, Scott Adamson, Don Johnson and Chris Johnson nabbed fourth with a time of 3:20.85.

Craig DeWall finished sixth in the 60-yard high hurdles at 7.91 and Paul West turned in a 4:18.24 in the mile run to take eighth.

Women tracksters finish fourth in eight-team meet

by Dobie Holland

Hindered by a mediocre performance, Eastern's women's track team was forced to settle for a fourth-place finish Saturday at the eight-team invitational at Lantz Fieldhouse.

The competitors saw Big Ten powerhouse Ohio State University run away with first place by scoring 154 points. Western Illinois University finished a distant second Saturday with 80 points.

Murray State placed third with 67 points, while the Panthers followed with 60 points, he said.

"Ohio State had more personnel," Eastern head coach John Craft said. "They were three and four people deep in each event. It's easier to place when you have those numbers."

Eastern's mile-relay team of Barbra Hudson, Lauren Lynch, Renee Johnson and Gail Stephens put forth another winning effort, clocking in at 3:51.1—four seconds better than their previous best.

Meanwhile, team captain Gail Stephens continued to run impressive times, clocking 1:22.7 in the 600-yard dash. The senior standout also has an excellent chance of representing the Panthers at nationals.

"I ran the race the way the coach told me," Stephens said. "I had my doubts about running the 600 but coach (Craft) said I could do it."

In addition to Stephens' stellar performance, senior Barbra Hudson placed second in the long jump and freshman shotputter Debbie Zubick set a new school record at 43'8" which earned her fifth overall.

Men's tennis team shows well in season opener

by Jeff Long

Eastern's men's tennis team got off to a good start in opening its indoor season Monday when it finished second at a six-team invitational at Lantz Fieldhouse.

"We feel good about how we're playing," Eastern head coach Carl Sexton said Monday. "This tournament gave us an appraisal on where we stand, and I saw a lot of bright spots."

The meet was really a two-team meet between Eastern and the University of Evansville, which took top honors with 26½ points. Eastern finished with 19 points to take second.

It was almost a repeat performance of last year's tournament, when Evansville and Eastern finished first and second, respectively. Evansville had also been the favorite entering this year's tournament.

Lakeland Community College nabbed third with 9½ points, while Belleville Area College and the Eastern tennis club tied for fourth with 8½ points. Sangamon State University finished last in the tourney.

Eastern's performance was highlighted by the play of seniors Jay

Johnson and Rob Hopkins. The duo teamed up to take second place in doubles competition, and each also made it to the finals in singles competition.

However, neither could get past Evansville's Derik Crosser. Crosser knocked off Hopkins 10-1, and Johnson 10-7. Ironically, Johnson had earlier defeated Evansville's number one seed.

The duo had also topped Evansville's number-one doubles team, before losing 10-5 to Evansville's Dan Flannigan and Mike Waterfall.
